

Trained Volunteers Needed...

For a full year, Victim Relief Ministries out of Dallas and other states across the nation, was a presence in New Orleans and Baton Rouge. New VRM Chapters are being formed to assist when disaster strikes. VRM has responded to more than 100 disasters since September 11, 2001 and continues to respond to crime every day. Trained volunteers from the faith community are needed to serve now and in the future.

In the last decade, the world and our nation have experienced more out of the ordinary tragedies than we have seen previously in this generation.

- Terrorism on American soil
- Hurricanes
- Floods
- War
- Tsunami
- Earthquakes

All of these events leave devastated victims who need assistance physically, emotionally and spiritually.

Add to natural disasters the manmade trauma of crime and terrorism; and the number of victims needing assistance increases in numbers too large to comprehend.

This training gives you the opportunity to become a Victim Chaplain or Victim Crisis Responder so that when tragedy strikes, you will be prepared and qualified to respond. (see application for qualifications)

Pastors Response.....

"...We came for training but experienced revival! We were both so blessed by the courage, commitment, compassion, love and dedication that you and your team continuously demonstrated during our training time. We are inspired and led to take the next steps with you."

Training Attendee

"Having been previously trained, here I am witnessing first hand the work God has been doing through this organization. It is truly an answer to prayer. Thank you for following through with your vision and for allowing me to have played a small part in this ministry."

"...and you will be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water whose waters do not fail." Isaiah 58:11-12

Disasters are unexpected and devastating! Violent crime is random and devastating. *There will always be events such as these and others that require the need for comforting people in a manner appropriate for the time and circumstance. The need is great, but trained, qualified Victim Chaplains are few!

You, too, can become a volunteer trained in crisis intervention to serve your church and community in future times of crisis.

Training is coming to your area soon. Take advantage of this opportunity to become prepared to serve through Victim Relief Ministries in a time of tragedy. Hurting people need those from the faith community trained and ready to respond to the unique needs of victims of crime, terrorism, and natural disasters.

Victim Chaplains and laymen trained as Crisis Responders are needed now more than ever. Make plans to attend this dynamic train-

Every church should have at least one deacon, elder or layman who is trained in chaplaincy and crisis response available to serve through Victim Relief Ministries in a time of disaster!

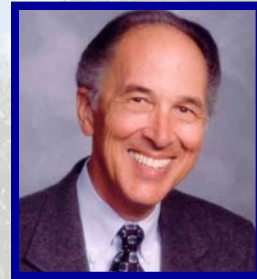

The curriculum in this training will cover areas of critical response to help equip pastors and laymen when working with victims in the aftermath of crime, terrorism, and natural disaster. With this training, pastors will see the importance of having additional staff and congregation trained to share the load of response with you in being prepared for dealing with critical incidents.

Curriculum

- Grief & Trauma
